1. [REDACTED] in Paris [REDACTED] agree that the differences between Yugoslavia and the USSR were reconciled in mid-1952.
2. Our primary reason for belief in this reconciliation were two diplomatic appointments. The first was the appointment of General Nescovic as Ambassador to India; and the second the assignment of (fnu) Josipovic as counselor [REDACTED] We believe that Nescovic, who went to India one month prior to the announcement of his appointment, made contact with the representatives of the Chinese Communist Government in India. We feel that Josipovic's essential purpose in Switzerland was to contact members of the Spanish Communist Party in Berne. In turn the Spanish Communist and Chinese Communist delegations effected the USSR-Yugoslav reconciliation.
3. We feel that Tito's first speech in Split after his return from the UK and after Stalin's death is another indication of the reconciliation because he stated that Yugoslavia is waiting for the USSR to see its mistake re Yugoslavia.
